

CURRICULUM VITAE

NICOLE DEWANDRE [Nicole.DEWANDRE@cec.eu.int]

Until January 31st 2004, Nicole Dewandre was Head of the Women and Science Unit in the Directorate General for Research. She studied physics, engineering and economics at the University of Louvain, operations research at the University of California (Berkeley) and philosophy at the Free University of Brussels (ULB). She entered the European Commission in 1983, working as a scientific officer in the Directorate General for Research, in the field of strategic issues for technology policy, linking societal concerns with technology policy until 1986. She became a member of the Central Advisory Group and then the Forward Study Unit, dealing with strategic analysis of research and industrial policy for the President of the Commission (1986-1992). In 1993, she supported the Belgian Presidency of the European Union in the areas of industry, energy, and consumer councils. Following this, she worked as a principal administrator in social sciences research in the Directorate-General for Research. From 1997 onwards, she has been developing the Women and Science activities in DG Research. Since February 1st, she has changed unit and is now Head of the « Scientific advice and governance» Unit, in DG Research.